PRESS RELEASE

ESCP Business School is ranked 8th in the Financial Times European Business Schools report

The Financial Times has published its "European Business Schools 2020" ranking today, which ranks the top 90 graduate business schools in Europe. ESCP Business School ranks 8th, which is an increase of 6 places from last year.

ESCP, therefore, returns to the Top 10 management schools in Europe, while ranking 4th in France, 2nd in the UK, Italy and Spain, and 1st in Germany and Poland.

ESCP ranks highly across the board, with most notably 2nd place for its Master in Finance, 7th for its EMBA, and 6th for its Master in Management.

Professor Frank Bournois, Executive President & Dean, adds "This fantastic result underlines the hard work carried out by the school to achieve and maintain excellence in all our programmes, in terms of academic content, faculty research, and student experience."

The business school is also incredibly diverse, with 83% of its faculty being international, and 100% of its faculty having a doctorate. This is invaluable for the institution as it continues to teach students how to thrive in an ever more global business environment.

With this ranking, ESCP shows that it can tackle the global challenges related to the post-covid world (climate emergency, digital transformation...) in the best possible conditions.

About ESCP Business School

ESCP Business School was founded in 1819. The School has chosen to teach responsible leadership, open to the world and based on European multiculturalism. Six campuses in Berlin, London, Madrid, Paris, Turin and Warsaw are the stepping stones that allow students to experience this European approach to management.

Several generations of entrepreneurs and managers were thus trained in the firm belief that the business world may feed society in a positive way.

This conviction and ESCP's values - excellence, singularity, creativity and plurality - daily guide our mission and build its pedagogical vision.

Every year, ESCP welcomes 7100 students and 5000 managers from 120 different nationalities. Its strength lies in its many business training programmes, both general and specialised (Bachelor, Master, MBA, Executive MBA, PhD and Executive Education), all of which include a multi-campus experience.

It all starts here.
