

At the Junior Professorship for Strategy (Prof. Dr. Maximilian Weis) at ESCP Business School, Campus Berlin is a position available from 01.10.2024 or later:

Student Assistant (m/f/d)

– Research or Teaching Profile | 10 working hours per week

The position is temporary and the duration is 5 months with possible extension.

The Junior Professorship Strategy has a research and teaching focus on strategic management, strategic leadership and governance. In our quantitative empirical research, we study how top executives shape and influence strategic decisions, and how these affect organizational outcomes. We are looking for self-motivated, highly active and productive students, who are eager to gain first experience in research activities at one of the leading European business schools.

Tasks

Your main tasks will be supporting the research activities at the professorship. As teaching support, you will, for instance, research interesting case examples, or create gamification elements. You will be given the opportunity to actively bring in your ideas and partly co-create relevant and engaging teaching materials. As research support, you will experience quantitative empirical work firsthand and work on your own small research projects that involve data collection, analysis and transformation.

Requirements

- Bachelor or Master's student during the entire period of work contract,
- Very good written and spoken English skills,
- General interest in the field of strategic management and/or organization design,
- Team player, reliable, responsible, showing initiative, and self-motivating,
- For the teaching profile: Prior work experience in a strategic context is a plus,
- For the research profile: Programming experience (i.e., Python) and data analytics skills (pandas) is a must. Experience with API usage, NLP or ETL processes with large datasets is a big plus.
