

At the Chair for Responsible Management (Prof. Dr. Oliver Laasch) at ESCP Business School, Campus Berlin is 1 position available from 01.04.2026 or later:

Student Assistant (all genders)

10 working hours per week | initially limited for 5 months

About us:

The purpose of the Chair for Responsible Management is to study, develop, and promote alternatives to problematic logics of business and management. Examples for alternative more socially and environmentally desirable logics of practice can be found, among others, in humanistic, indigenous, biomimetic, post-growth, sufficiency, circular, rewilding, and stakeholder-democratic management, and restorative management logics, as well as the practices and business models shaped by them. We are looking for self-motivated, highly active and productive students, who are eager to gain first experience in research activities at one of the leading European business schools.

Tasks:

Your main tasks will be supporting the research and teaching activities at our chair of responsible management. You will experience qualitative empirical work firsthand and work on a chair ongoing research that involves data collection, analysis and transformation".

Requirements:

- Bachelor or Master's student during the entire period of work contract
- Very good written and spoken English and German language
- General interest in the field of Business Management and Business studies and interest or experience in sustainability
- Team player, reliable, responsible, showing initiative, and self-motivating

Nice to have:

- Experience in sustainability management
- Experience in AI and/ or activism
- Experience with qualitative research and/or experience with the NVIVO software
