

The Jean-Baptiste Say Institute for Entrepreneurship (Prof. Dr. René Mauer) is looking for a new team member for the following position starting on 16. January 2022 or later:

Student Assistant (m/w/d) (10 working hours per week)

About us:

The Jean-Baptiste Say Institute for Entrepreneurship is the central point of activities in the fields of entrepreneurship and innovation at the ESCP Business School's different European locations. We are actively involved in research, teaching and real-world projects and in many areas we work closely together as a European team.

We mainly focus on three areas of excellency:

- 1) Entrepreneurial methods and their didactics,
- 2) Entrepreneurship in start-ups, established companies and beyond,
- 3) Entrepreneurial ecosystems and their interrelations.

Tasks:

You will assist us in both our teaching and research projects. E.g. by helping to prepare lectures and seminars or collecting data for an entrepreneurial research paper. Furthermore you will actively support our team in building regional and international start-up and innovation ecosystems within various projects. Other work areas include administrative tasks, social media support and helping with organizing online and other events.

Requirements:

- Bachelor or Master student during the entire period of work contract,
- Some experience with the use of Microsoft Office programmes,
- Very good written and spoken English language skills,
- German skills would be a plus,
- General interest in the fields of entrepreneurship and innovation,
- Experience with start-up and innovation ecosystems would be a plus,
- Able to work in a team, reliable, responsible, exhibiting initiative, energy and enthusiasm.
