

The Jean-Baptiste Say Institute for Entrepreneurship (Prof. Dr. René Mauer, Prof. Dr. Matthias Mrożewski, Prof. Dr. Christoph Seckler) at the ESCP Business School, campus Berlin is looking for:

Post-Doc (m/f/d) with a research focus on (corporate) entrepreneurship and/or innovation

Full-time without teaching duties | limited for 2 years | salary oriented towards TV-L

About us

The Say Institute for Entrepreneurship is a thriving entrepreneurship community at ESCP Business School, a world leading business school. What unites us is a shared belief that entrepreneurship can be a force for good in society. We foster (corporate) entrepreneurship in Europe through our impactful and award-winning research. We develop entrepreneurial leaders through our transformational and world-wide recognized teaching. And we empower entrepreneurs through hands-on incubation programmes, and inspiring community events. At the Berlin campus, the Say team consists of 15 people and is growing fast. Find out more about us, our projects, research interests, sponsors and partners, and our entrepreneurial community via <https://www.sayinstitute.eu/>.

Areas of responsibility

The Post-Doc position comes with two main responsibilities.

1. Project Manager of the newly founded ESCP research institute for entrepreneurial transformation: In this role, you will be responsible for managing the institute, with a particular focus on organizing, executing, developing, and controlling the institute's strategic initiatives. You will play a key role in fostering relationships within local, national, and international ecosystems and coordinate efforts across ESCP's European campuses. Additionally, you will oversee both operational and administrative tasks to ensure the smooth running and growth of the institute. In your role you will receive support from and closely cooperate with the Academic Director of the institute, Prof. Dr. René Mauer.
2. Project Manager for a Flagship Questionnaire-Based Research Study: This project shall be the institute's strategic research project and aims at surveying 200+ European corporates on a yearly basis on topics on corporate entrepreneurship and innovation (e.g. entrepreneurial leadership, corporate venturing) and transformation (digitization, sustainability etc.). As Project Manager your responsibilities will include designing the study, managing the research database, leading outreach activities to corporate participants, and analyzing the survey data. Additionally, you will handle the dissemination of results through conferences, academic publications, and practitioner outlets. Throughout this project, you will work closely with the team at the Jean-Baptiste Say Institute, particularly with the Academic Lead of the study, Prof. Dr. Matthias Mrożewski. A core objective of the project is to generate novel, world-leading knowledge and ensure its dissemination through publications in top-tier academic journals.

What you can expect

- Postdoctoral position at a world-leading business school, offering an exceptional research infrastructure
- A great team dedicated to fostering an environment where each member can grow to their fullest potential
- Close collaboration with the three institute heads Prof. Dr. René Mauer, Prof. Dr. Matthias Mrożewski, Prof. Dr. Christoph Seckler
- Possibility to work with 5+ PhD students on various research and publication projects
- No teaching duties
- During daily business you will have the chance to work together with colleagues from our European ESCP locations in London, Madrid, Paris, Torino and Warsaw

We are looking for

- Completed, or are about to complete a PhD in entrepreneurship, innovation and/or technology management, management, strategy or in a related field with outstanding performance.
- 2+ years of experience as consultant, founder or project manager
- Distinct entrepreneurial mindset, team spirit, proactiveness and excellent communication skills
- Hands on attitude
- Excellent German and English skills

Are you interested? Then send us your detailed application (motivation letter, CV, publication record and university transcripts in one PDF) via e-mail until 5. January 2025 to Barbara Lutz at blutz@escp.eu
